UAE celebrates 47 years of building

marks its 47th National Day, through official and popular celebrations that reflect the significance of the anniversary of the establishment of the Union.

The celebration has gained special importance this year, as it will coincide with 2018 being the 'Year of Zayed', which was announced by President His Highness Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed Al Nahyan, to mark 100 years since the birth of the country's Founding Father, the late Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan.

This year, the UAE inaugurated 'The Founder's Memorial', as a beacon of light for future generations, with the aim of introducing them to the legacy of the country's founder and the creator of its civilisation and development, as well as to represent a historic connection between the eras and generations, which have witnessed the establishment of the Union. The Founder's Memorial is a permanent national tribute dedicated to commemorating the life, legacy and values of the Founding Father of the UAE. A place to learn about Sheikh Zayed through art, nature, words, stories, and multimedia experiences, the Memorial offers visitors a range of personal encounters with the late Sheikh Zayed as a man and as a leader, enabling people to gain a deeper understanding of his vast influence on the UAE and the wider world.

In 2018, the UAE has been recognised as a model of overall development, due to its scientific, economic and social accomplishments, which are significant additions to the achievements accomplished during its five-decade journey, through which the wise leadership has continued to follow to ensure a better tomorrow for its people, as well as all Arab and Islamic nations.

The UAE's intellectual, political, military and social influence has become widespread across the region, through its leading regional and international efforts to fight extremism and terrorism, and deal with the challenges facing the region according to a clear assessment of these challenges and its partnerships with influential Arab countries.

The UAE has continued to anticipate the future by launching the first Emirati-made satellite and occupying advanced positions in many international development indexes, as well as by issuing new legislation, in coordination between the government and the Federal National Council, FNC, leading to its many accomplishments and developments on various levels and in all sectors.

The country's sound and unwavering political stances in the region, its role in consolidating Arab sovereignty, and its efforts to face the region's challenges have contributed to the region's success in overcoming many of its challenges.

The UAE's foreign policy has witnessed active and tangible developments in the Arabian Gulf, Arab and international arenas, due to its active foreign policy in dealing with various international issues. These efforts have enhanced the country's stature and strengthened its friendships across the globe.

The success of the UAE's diplomacy and policy, which calls for openness to the world and the establishment of relations and strategic partnerships, is reflected by the international stature granted to the Emirati passport.

Below, the achievements of the state over the past year across a number of key sectors are explored.

Age of Space:

In 2018, the UAE entered the age of space manufacturing after it succeeded in launching 'KhalifaSat', which was entirely developed and manufactured by Emirati engineers.

The number of satellites operated by the UAE has risen to nine multifunctional satellites, while the value of the UAE's investments in the sector rose to over AED22 billion.

In 2018, the UAE strengthened its leadership in the space sector through a series of achievements that confirm that it is on the right track to reach Mars in 2117.

On 3rd September, 2018, the UAE announced the selection of the first two Emirati astronauts, Hazza Al Mansouri and Sultan Al Neyadi, and in October 2018 the UAE Space Agency concluded a historic agreement with the American space agency, NASA, to expand their cooperation in space exploration and manned space voyages.

Tolerance:

The UAE has maintained its international presence in the area of tolerance, and has continued its efforts to promote coexistence and combat extremism and hatred through an institutional system managed by the Ministry of Tolerance, along with many UAEbased intellectual and religious institutions.

The UAE also strengthened its position as an international centre of moderation and tolerance. through hosting a series of events, most notably the 'World Tolerance petitive amongst 137 countries.

Summit', which was a culmination of the series of activities and events witnessed by the country during the National Tolerance Festival, held this year under the theme 'On Zayed's Approach', from 9th to 16th November.

Legislation and Laws:

In 2018, the UAE continued developing its legislative structure and issued many decrees and federal laws, with the aim of improving the community's security and safety, achieving economic and social stability for the country's people, and establishing the principles of responsibility, transparency and efficiency among various government authorities.

One of the notable decrees issued in 2018 is Federal Law Decree No. 20 for 2018, which relates to countering money laundering crimes and combatting the funding of terrorism and illegal organisations, as well as Federal Law Decree No. 9 for 2018 regarding public debt.

Law Decree No. 19 for 2018 on foreign direct investment, FDI, is another important decree issued in 2018, while President His Highness Sheikh Khalifa bin Zaved Al Nahvan issued Federal Law No. 5 for 2018 regarding the endowments 'Waqf,' as well as a federal law authorising the UAE Cabinet to grant temporary licences for testing of innovations that use future technology and its applications, such as artificial intelligence. The law provides a safe testing environment for legislation that will govern the use and applications of future technology.

The study to develop new legislation will begin with the launch of the RegLab in January, which will be the largest laboratory to anticipate and develop future laws governing the use and application of technology. It is hoped that the lab will allow the UAE to become a regional and global leader for attracting innovation and advanced technology applications. These include self-driving vehicles and artificial intelligence in health.

Competitiveness:

The UAE has the most competitive economy in the Middle East and North Africa, according to a study from the World Bank Group and the World Economic Forum.

The Arab World Competitiveness Report 2018, published last August. ranked the UAE as the 17th most com-

On the other hand, the vision of Sheikh Zaved, may he rest in peace, was founded on the need to build an integrated economy in successive consecutive times. It was brought to life as the country succeeded in building and developing a buzzing and prosperous business environment that is currently attractive for foreign direct investment. The UAE ranked first among Arab countries in 2017 for its ability to attract foreign direct investment. This established its position as a strategic trade hub that provides foreign investors access to regional markets, as well as the freedom to transfer funds and profits. in addition an effective judiciary system and legislation, neutral courts, laws and legislation that protects foreign capital, and low customs tariffs that range between 0 and 5 percent on all goods.

Dubai Expo 2020 is one of the most important achievements under way. The exhibition is an effective implementation of international cooperation policies and plays a central role in expanding and bolstering bilateral and multilateral relations. The exhibition is expected to host more than 200 participating countries. It will contribute to strengthening cultural understanding and nurturing cultural dialogue between nations, while changing the prevailing perceptions on the region. Dubai Expo 2020 will position the UAE as a cradle of emerging technology, an incubator for SMEs and entrepreneurs in the region. The UAE's achievements at the local level were not limited to the economic sector. The accomplishments of the people of the UAE, surnamed Zayed's children (Eeyal Zayed), exceeded all expectations, going into the final frontier: space. In an unprecedented historic achievement, the UAE announced the successful launch of the UAE satellite KhalifaSat, the UAE's first full-scale UAEmade satellite, designed and built by Emirati engineers, in a move to establish a new phase in the field of space technologies in

UAE is the world's first foreign aid donor

The vision of the late Sheikh Zayed Bin Sultan Al Nahyan, may he rest in peace, was an inspiration for the foreign policy of the UAE, which committed itself to building bridges of friendship, work and cooperation with other nations. Today, the UAE continues to support the United Nations Ssustainable Development Goals, which represent a road map or a specific path for building a better and more sustainable tomorrow for the world and future generations. The country continues to devote itself to addressing major global challenges, especially those related to poverty eradication, environmental protection, climate change, the establishment of justice and peace, supporting and promoting global progress.

Accordingly, the UAE has achieved qualitative growth across all areas. This reflected directly and clearly though several indicators, according to the World Economic Forum's Global Competitiveness Report, which covers numerous key areas such as quality of life, infrastructure, technology, and the adoption of business-friendly government policies. This comes to confirm that the country perseveres in its endeavors in accordance with the long-term approach of Sheikh Zayed to achieve stability and prosperity in the country, in the region and in the world at large.

For the fifth consecutive year, the UAE ranked first as the largest international donor of Official Development Aid (ODA) relative to gross national income (GNI). The country spent 1.31% of its GNI on foreign developmental aid in 2017, which is nearly twice the global target of 0.7% set by the United Nations as a global standard to measure the efforts of donor countries.

Donations made in 2017 amounted to a total ODA contribution of Dh19.32 billion (US $ 5.26 billion), a year-on-year growth rate of 18.1% from 2016. Over 54 percent of the ODA was in the form of non-refundable grants to 147 countries (including 40 of the least developed countries) across the world,

The UAE continues to hold a leading position on the list of Official Development Aid (ODA) donors as a share of the Gross National Income (GNI), one of its many achievement on the international level and across various fields. These achievements are aligned with the legacy of the late Sheikh Zayed, as the UAE perseveres in its mission to serve humanity and support friendly countries while achieving economic prosperity and countering the effects of crises and disasters. The country aims to make impactful positive and tangible contributions to achieve the ultimate goals for humanity: eradicate poverty eradication and attain sustainable development by 2030. The UAE has taken the lead in efforts to combat poverty and provide foreign assistance to the needy, including the most vulnerable.

On this historic occasion, I would like to commend the bilateral relations which join between our two friendly countries. These ties are based on the principles of cooperation and mutual respect and have reached the level of strategic partnership between the two countries and peoples in recent years. The mutual visits of the leaders and officials of the two countries, and the everincreasing levels of trade, economic and cultural exchange, are a powerful indicator which stands witness to the strength of bilateral relations in various fields.

A number of joint venture trade projects are being implemented in both countries, helping to link the two countries together even more closely. Charitable and humanitarian institutions in the UAE continue to provide a lot of aid to Sri Lanka and this year too several new projects were funded in keeping with the declaration of this year as the Year of Zaved.

Finally, may I take this opportunity, on this happy occasion, to wish H.E. Maithripala Sirisena – President of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka and to the people of Sri Lanka, progress and prosperity.
