

Artists in the jungle
By Piyal Udaya Samaraweera

Jungle Tales

The animals in the jungle are preparing to hold an art exhibition.

When the tortoise was carrying paint on his back to paint a picture, the paint spilled on his shell.

It's a beautiful painting. We must show it in the exhibition.

The picture was placed in the exhibition.

For the tortoise it was an ordeal.

Why is your paper blank yet?

How can I paint, when the paint gets washed away from the brush?

Why are you carrying a ladder to see the exhibition?

I can't see the giraffe's painting without a ladder.

Who painted this picture with beautiful butterflies?

No, it is not a painting. A swarm of real butterflies are on the empty paper.