Going Our Way?

You are the type of young person who feels at ease in any company - you like people, and people just naturally like you.

You like to communicate, discuss and debate ideas logically, and in their correct sequence.

Moreover, you have strong communication skills, and even stronger opinions about advertising and marketing.

Looks like you're traveling in our direction.

As a company that's continuously pushing the boundaries of creativity, we have plenty of room for fresh minds and yearning ambitions.

Maybe you have collected a degree in Sociology, Mass Communication or Economics down the road. Or you have graduated from the university of experience, yet have never been satisfied.

English is your forte, and though you may not be equally qualified in Sinhala, you do speak it.

You are hard working, and, above all, not - repeat, not - a clock watcher. Going our way? We promise to make the journey worth your while.

If you think you are the kind of person we want, email your resumé to:
